They had no hope

Saigon family makes their new home in Dublin

The slender Oriental woman sat quietly on the floor, her face showing none of the fear that had gripped her in the last few weeks.

Her children were oblivious of the new culture slowly enveloping them as they scurried about their new home in Dublin.

They are the family of Phuong Thuy Nguyen, 42, a Saigon attorney who fled Vietnam on April 22 to escape the swiftly advancing North Vietnamese Army.

The Nguyens were invited into the home of Thomas and Claudia McCormick in Dublin on Sunday, just 13 days after they escaped from the last remnants of their homeland.

"South Vietnam newspapers said everything was going well. Troops were fighting bravely in such-and-such a town, and so on, so people wouldn't panic. Many people had hope, but not me," said Nguyen.

Voice of America and British Broadcasting Corporation radio had told of South Vietnam's failure to defend itself, said Nguyen, and he knew he must leave immediately.

The Nguyens owned a house in Saigon, and were one of the few families to have a car, both of which were lost. Nguyen had one million piastres ($10,000) in a bank, and withdrew it five days before he left to put it in a safe he owned.

His brother had been an employee of World Airways for eight years and knew the company's president, Ed Daly, personally. Suddenly, on the 22nd of April, Daly called Nguyen and said, "You've got ten minutes to get to the Caravelle Hotel before we leave."

Nguyen quickly explained the plight of informing his four brothers and their families that they too might leave, and Daly gave them an extra five minutes.

With barely enough time to phone his aged parents and tell them goodbye, he quickly gathered his family together and raced to the hotel. "We had been staying within an arm's length of each other, hoping to find a way out and knowing we wouldn't have much time if the chance came," he said.

In a short time, they were crowded into a 727 jet with 244 other people aboard, six sitting in seats made for three. "I then realized I hadn't had time to give the safe's combination to any of my remaining relatives," Nguyen said regretfully.

The plane stopped only once to refuel, and came straight to Oakland International Airport. "Only when we were on the plane did Daly come on the mike and say, 'We're going to the States. Before that we had no idea where we were going,'" he said.

Refugees were herded into the First Christian Church of Los Gatos upon their release from the airport where Nguyen said they were given everything they needed. They were told if no American sponsor could be found, they could stay there for up to five years.

They were then transported to a World Airways hotel in Hayward, and again were reassured of indefinite food, clothing and housing.

"We were very moved by the unselfish, generous conduct of the church people and World Airways. They were so generous — willing to give us anything we needed," said Nguyen.

Claudia McCormick worked for the Good Samaritan Home, who conducted the sponsorship program for the refugees. "She brought home the idea of our sponsoring a refugee family, and we thought, 'Why not? We are doing pretty well, and could afford to share,'" said her husband Thomas McCormick, an administrative analyst for the county.

Phuong and Thuy Nguyen have a room to themselves.

Their daughters, Oanh, 5, and Oyen, 4, take turns sleeping with the McCormicks' daughters, Desiree, 15, and Kathleen, 12.

"I love plants — I had 16, and I now have seven," said Desiree with a smile, after Oanh and Oyen had carefully dismantled several potted plants in her room.

"They have not wept once since we got here," said Phuong with a proud face, concern for his two beautiful daughters now at rest.

Thuy, his lovely wife of 28, was a school principal in Saigon. Speaking only Vietnamese, her face tells you she is content with her new surroundings.

"We are indebted to the McCormicks for their generosity, their kindness. A show of kindness such as the McCormicks' is unheard of in our country," said Phuong.

There appears little problem in adjusting to this new life for the Nguyens. "The Chinese food is exactly the same as home," said Phuong. "I like the shorter meals — less time and less money. Hamburgers? Yes, they are all right."

"I may be the luckiest refugee of all. Oanh starts to Fredericksen School Monday, and Mr. McCormick is helping me look for a job. I don't want to be a burden on them," said Phuong proudly.

Phuong hopes to enter practice as a maritime lawyer, which he says has an "international character." A former correspondent for the Vietnam Press Agency, he knows the press well but feels he is not enough of a native to report effectively.

Phuong has great hope for the future, and refuses to dwell on the past:

"I have lost a home, but found a home here;

"I lost dear friends, but found dear friends here;

"I'm sure I am not lost any more."

City, county may enter Sierra Club-580 suit

The City of Pleasanton and Alameda County are considering getting involved in the Sierra Club lawsuit over the widening of Interstate 580.

City Attorney Ken Scheidig will present a report to the city council Monday night concerning a possible amicus curiae brief on behalf of the state in that litigation, while Supervisor John Murphy has asked the county counsel to research a similar intervention on behalf of the county.

That report will be presented to the Alameda County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, negotiations among representatives of the Sierra Club, the State of California and the federal government are still continuing and, although an out-of-court settlement has been rumored, none had been announced as of late Thursday.

The Sierra Club is seeking to block the widening of I-580 through the Dublin Canyon for environmental reasons. One of the rumored settlements has been a widening to six instead of eight lanes in return for which, the Sierra Club would withdraw its suit.

Several East Bay labor organizations have entered that litigation because a delay might kill the $110 million project and thus, remove the possibility for upwards of 300 construction jobs a day over a seven-year period.

Another organization that is considering intervention in the suit is the Pacific Legal Foundation, a non-profit Sacramento-based law firm that handles cases nationwide — sometimes on behalf of environmentalists and sometimes on behalf of government.

Ron Zumbun of the PLF said that firm is still researching the Sierra Club suit and will probably not make a decision until next week. He added, however, "It is very unlikely that we would be supporting the Sierra Club position."

Pleasanton teachers pay plea far from reality

PLEASANTON — It is unlikely that Pleasanton Elementary School District teachers will get anything approaching a 12.1 per cent cost of living increase if the school board's initial counter proposal is a firm criteria of the board's stance.

School board members told teachers Wednesday night that income to the district is based on an inflation formula, and the board cannot "automatically provide cost of living increases in salaries to employees."

In light of an estimated increase in income of 4.4 per cent (in accordance with the Dills Bill, SB90), the board instructed administration negotiators and board counsel Keith Breon to "continue reviewing the income, expenditures and possible budget adjustments and reductions for 1975-76 in an effort to provide monies for an increase and/or adjustment in salary schedule and fringe benefits.

On several other matters, the board made no commitment beyond agreeing to "strive" or "attempt to adjust" proposals made by the Amador Valley Teachers Association (AVTA).

On the AVTA proposal asking for abolishment of teaching vice principal positions and student/administrator ratios, the board replied that AVTA is not entitled under the Education Code to meet and confer (negotiate) upon policies directly affecting management personnel.

The same statement was applied to several other AVTA proposals, including more specific job descriptions for administrators, faculty evaluations of administrators and freezing of district-level hiring until the average daily attendance (ADA) increases by 1,000.

Teaching vice principal positions were inaugurated for the first time last September. Prior to that, the only sub-principal positions at Pleasanton schools were the vice principals posts at Harvest Park and Pleasanton Elementary.

AVTA leaders have indicated they believe returning present teaching vice principals to the classroom will ease the teacher-pupil ratio.

While realizing that these positions are the prime "training ground" for persons wishing to move up into administration, teachers (through AVTA) are concerned with the teacher-pupil ratio in classrooms ... as indicated in another section of the proposal made in early April.

The board also said it could not consider, in view of the district's financial condition, maximum class sizes of 25 in grades K-3 and 28 in grades 4-8.

Board members were a little more encouraging on two other items in this section regarding the instructional aide program and flexible scheduling.

At the present time elementary schools are working toward flexible scheduling in order to provide time for preparation and planning," the response states. "The board agrees to continue this effort toward providing increased time for planning and preparation."

The board also agreed to consider and review reestablishing the instructional aide program with the understanding that "priorities will have to be considered within the district's financial ability."

On other matters proposed by AVTA, the board agreed to "attempt" to adjust the transportation schedule without increasing transportation costs in order to insure that classes not begin before 8 a.m. However, trustees indicated they desire to maintain flexibility in individual schools and total district scheduling and "therefore cannot agree to ending all classes at 3 p.m."

On AVTA's point concerning reaffirmation of employee organization rights and privileges regarding access to buildings and non-confidential information, the board responded, "Our position is to retain the current policy on employer-employee relations which provides for some of CEC's request." The trustees also agree to discussing the addition of provisions regarding additional access to school buildings and supplying non-confidential information.

In an accompanying chart (with the board's responses), the district showed a preliminary budget comparison that indicates that teacher salary and benefits requests would necessitate a budget of $7,470,580 ... $1.3 million over the preliminary budget proposed by the district.

Nonetheless, the first jump

'Inflationary spiral'

VCSD budget asks $2 boost

The proposed budget for the Valley Community Services District includes a $2 per month boost in sewer service charges for VCSD residential property.

Much of that increase comes in the equipment maintenance area, where costs are expected to more than double from $15,240 to $34,850.

Gas and electricity will cost $82,900 rather than $58,250 and the total materials and supplies budget is up 36 per cent over 1974.

The proposed capital outlay in sewer service charges since 1973 seems to be an almost certainty as expenses in that area will jump 17.6 per cent according to the preliminary budget.

And on top of that, no monies for salary increase or increased employee benefits were included in the preliminary budget that VCSD directors will examine in detail for the first time next Tuesday night.

Partially offsetting inflation, however, is anticipated 12.5 per cent rise in the assessed valuation of homes in the Dublin-San Ramon area, which will result in a 12.5 per cent rise in VCSD tax revenue.

Water service expenses are also expected to jump some 13.7 per cent, again with materials and supplies contributing heavily to that rise. Capital outlay in that area will also be greater than last year.

Due primarily to the opening of the San Ramon Olympic Pool, the VCSD aquatics program will cost 24.2 per cent more this time around while revenue is expected to decline by some 10 per cent.

The big jump in costs will come in salaries, as VCSD spent $4,077 in 1974 in payroll for the San Ramon pool, but expects to pay out $39,797 this coming year.

The legislative branch of VCSD will have to absorb a slight drop in funding in 1975, from $75,274 to $73,185 while the executive branch expenses will jump slightly, from $49,856 to $54,036.

The finance department has a similar rise figured in the budget, which will be open to comments by the public on May 20, as does the fire department.

The fire department estimated budget is $548,088, not including any salary raises for employees. One of the reasons for the $30,000 jump is a near doubling of expenditures for communications required by the firemen.

The fire department also would like to purchase a kitchen table and six chairs for the bargain basement price of $290.

The Public Works Department is also tabbed for a small rise — from $58,945 to $62,673 — with one quarter of that due to rising insurance costs.

The recreation department will receive $21,000 more in 1975 if this preliminary budget passes the scrutiny of the board, with an estimated 20.8 per cent rise planned for instructors.

Insurance costs will double in this branch of VCSD as well.

The budget does not anticipate the passage of the upcoming May 27 parks and recreation tax increase (although VCSD officials are optimistic) and so the parks expenditures are set 3.6 per cent lower than last year.

Of course the passage of the tax rate increase would radically alter that portion of the budget.

First rebates are mailed

WASHINGTON (AP)— The government has put into the mail the first of the 1974 tax rebate checks that are designed to help kick the economy out of its deep recession and into good health again.

The checks, which range up to maximum amounts of $200, are turning up in taxpayers' mail boxes this week.

Special census supports Pleasanton bonds

PLEASANTON — Pleasanton's special census reveals a population 541 less than the city had estimated and indicates rather significant support for possible sewer and park bonds.

The census was conducted in March at a cost of $12,000. City officials approved the census in order to increase the city's share of state subsidies by proving an increase in population. In addition, the questions asked as a part of the census will give officials a better idea of the make-up of the community. The report will be presented to the city council Monday night.

Although the official population of 31,667 shown by the census was less than officials had estimated, Assistant City Manager Jim Walker said conducting the census was well worth the expense because, had it not been done, the city would have been locked into its "estimated" 1975 population until the next national census in 1980.

That "estimate" compiled at the state level might have been greater than the actual 1975 figure but, because the census was conducted, Pleasanton will now be allowed to adjust its population figure each year until 1980, Walker said.

With the present population and the sewer permits that will be allowed both at the Pleasanton and Valley Community Services District plants over the next year, Walker estimated, the city's share of state subsidies will be increased by some $40,000.

As with many of the questions dealing with income and occupation, the questions concerning the park and sewer bonds indicated a percentage of "no response" and "no opinion," so the figures cannot be taken as overwhelming support.

However, nearly 42 percent of the residents indicated they would support a sewer bond while 16 percent said no (The "no response" percentage was 26 percent and "no opinion" was 16 percent.)

On the question of supporting a park bond to develop all of the park land now owned by the city, 39 percent said yes, 16 percent no, and again, 26 percent had "no response" and 18 percent "no opinion."

The greatest percentage of living units in Pleasanton are single family homes, 7,882 or 81 percent. Duplexes and four-plexes comprise 650 or 7 percent of the total, multiples 8 percent, mobile homes 4 percent and less than one percent were listed as "other."

The vacancy rate is a low 4.5 percent and the density per unit is an average 3.35 people. Single family homes average 3.68, while multiples and mobile homes range from 1.11 to 2.12.

Pleasanton has slightly more males than females (15,920 compared to 15,747) and the median age of the population is 27.

The largest age group in the population is 25 to 44 years old, with 11,344 people. The next two largest groups are those between the ages of 10 and 14 (4,203) and between the ages of 45 and 64 (4,241). The other age groups in descending order, are: 5 to 9 (3,736), 15 to 19 (2,882), 0 to 4 (2,663), 20 to 25 (1,382), 65 and older (1,198). Eighteen persons listed their age as "unknown."

By far the greatest percentage of principal wage earners among Pleasanton families are in the professional and technical profession (23 percent) or in the class of managers and officials (18 percent).

Craftpersons make up 14 percent of the population, sales workers 9 percent, service workers 7 percent, clerical personnel 4 percent, homemakers 3 percent. Seven percent listed themselves as retired, three percent as not in the labor force and 11 percent declined to respond.

Nearly 34 percent of the labor force (principal wage earner) is employed in San Francisco or the East Bay. The next largest percentage, 21 percent, declined to state where they are employed. A total of 12 percent work in Pleasanton, 11 percent in more than one area, 7 percent in the South Bay, 6 percent in Livermore, 5 percent in Dublin, 3 percent in Central Contra Costa County, 2 percent listed themselves as unemployed but seeking employment, and less than one percent indicated they traveled to Tracy and east.

More than half of potential "secondary wage earners (56 percent) indicated they do not work. Of those who do, 13 percent are clerical workers, 8 percent are professionals, 7 percent are service workers, and 3 percent are managers, 3 percent are sales workers, and 3 percent are retired.

Most of those secondary wage earners work either in Pleasanton, Livermore Dublin or the East Bay. A high school diploma is the highest educational level attained by the head of the household in 30 percent of the homes. Seventeen percent declined to respond, while 16 percent listed a two-year degree, 16 percent listed a four-year degree, 5 percent cited graduate work and another 5 percent listed a masters' degree.

Five percent listed high school, no diploma, while 3 percent said elementary school and 2 percent listed a doctorate.

Pleasanton's racial make-up is overwhelmingly white (81 percent). Fourteen percent of the population declined to answer this question and the remaining racial mix is 1.3 percent Black, 1.07 percent Asian American, .99 percent Mexican American (English mother tongue), .78 percent Mexican American (Spanish mother tongue), .25 percent American Indian, and .78 percent listed "other" as their ethnic background.

More than half of Pleasanton's population owns homes and pays more than $200 a month in house payments. A total of 22 percent declined to respond to this question and the next largest categories were renters who pay between $150 and $249 per month (9 percent) and homeowners who pay between $100 and $199 a month in house payments (7 percent).

Total income in 42 percent of Pleasanton homes is between $15,000 and $30,000 a year, although 32 percent declined to respond. Ten percent listed total household income as $10,000 to $15,000, 7 percent over $30,000, and 9 percent indicated total income was less than $10,000 a year.

Fundamentalist concept draws 100 to Grove School

PLEASANTON - The fundamentalist concept of education, which has taken root in Livermore, put out some firm feelers for support at an informational meeting held Thursday night at Walnut Grove School.

Approximately 100 parents recently petitioned school principal Anthony Huff for such a program, which puts primary emphasis on basic academic skills in an orderly environment and in a traditional classroom.

Their prospect, then, of the school offering two programs starting next fall that education leaders generally consider as being at opposite ends of the educational philosophy spectrum.

Already underway, in varying degrees over the last two years, is a totally separate and distinct program that comes under the banner of open education.

Like fundamentalist precepts, it has been a part of the educational process since the first days of formal learning, though with varying titles.

While a fundamentalist program is teacher-centered with all curriculum and discipline decisions made by the teacher or faculty, open education seeks to totally absorb the child in the learning process. In the latter respect, though teachers at Walnut Grove say the environment of the classroom is "very structured," in fact there are no ability groupings and no element of competition present.

Peter Arbogast, one of those working with the open education planning, says the "only competition apparent is that with oneself."

The teacher, in open education, is considered a "facilitator."

As outlined last night, with members of the Walnut Grove faculty and administration present, the fundamentalist program calls for self-contained classrooms with one grade level per classroom.

A brochure given parents in attendance says that priority will be given to fundamental tools of learning with a majority of the school day being devoted to the teaching of reading, writing, spelling, language and arithmetic.

Further, the curriculum would follow a definite progression, building on skills and abilities acquired at each level. The brochure adds that "at appropriate levels, it will include reading, hand writing, spelling, composition, grammar, social studies, science, art and music. A sequential program of physical education skills will be offered."

Both programs would be offered solely at Walnut Grove, which is a K-5 school with a burgeoning enrollment of almost 900 students. It is also one of the most modern in concept in the valley, boasting pods that enhance a multi-age mix or open education process.

It is this mixing of various age levels in one area as well as on-the-surface less structured study and movement that puts open education adherents and fundamentalist backers at odds.

A key segment of the fundamentalist, "Alternative III," approach as discussed last night, calls for adherence to precise standards of behavior.

These include remaining quiet and orderly in the classroom and attentive to instruction, behaving courteously when speaking to any adult or another student, lining up quickly and quietly to enter or re-enter class, no use of profane language or gestures, no leaving of desks except for a specific need, and respect for another's property.

The fundamentalist program guidelines call for maintenance of an orderly classroom and atmosphere, an accurate record of daily work, homework and testing, homework as an established routine at all grade levels, regular reports on student progress to parents and parental option to review results of major testing with the teacher. Parents would also be informed by the teacher if a child is having learning or behavioral problems; then the principal may become involved in problem solving if necessary.

Parents last night were given an additional form, asking for their support of the goals, philosophy and staff in the Fundamental Alternative Program at Walnut Grove. They were also asked for donations of time and/or materials on a project to construct walls... "since they are a prerequisite for implementing this program."

Livermore board opposes collective bargaining

LIVERMORE — Three Livermore Unified School District trustees are opposing the idea of collective bargaining for teachers in all of its proposed forms.

In favor of the idea was trustee Ken Englund, who felt collective bargaining, an issue now before the state legislature, would "perhaps take away some of our prerogatives... but perhaps we would come away with better education."

Trustee Betty Carrell saw binding arbitration as "taking local control away from the representatives of the people" — namely, elected school board members who are in charge of bargaining with teacher representatives each year.

Calling proposed legislation "right to strike" bills, trustee James McFarlane suggested facetiously: "Let's give the taxpayers the right to strike too — to withhold their taxes."

Englund argued the bill would actually prevent strikes by giving courts power to issue injunctions and to jail strikers.

Calling the concept "another step backward," school board president Jim Davis said collective bargaining places the school district "not in a defensible position."

Trustee Manuel Prado took no position.

Superintendent of schools Leo Croce was put in charge of drafting a letter to legislators informing them of the school board's position, which coincides with the official position of the Alameda County Schools Boards Association.

On a related issue, trustees had no response to criticism from the Certificated Employees Council, represented by East Avenue School teacher George Schell, chairman of the CEC.

A letter read by Schell stated: "As of this date, May 6, seven full weeks since the initial proposal was presented by CEC, the board has yet to respond with any counter-proposal (to many of the teachers' proposals including salary, early retirement and conditions of employment.)"

The letter accuses the board of not negotiating in good faith (as outlined in the board's own policies and regulations) because all the board has done so far, except in a few instances, is put together a packet of existing policies and regulations instead of responding with counter-proposals to the teachers' requests.

The letter concludes: "When the board has presented a complete and true counter-proposal, after a period of not less than seven days, CEC will meet and confer, in good faith, with the board's representatives."

Demurrer seeks delay in Livermore lawsuit

ALAMEDA COUNTY BUREAU OAKLAND — A demurrer filed by Alameda County is expected to delay a hearing on the merits of Livermore's suit against the Local Agency Formation Commission.

The city's suit is in response to LAFCO's decision to remove the Las Positas Valley from its sphere of influence, thus removing a major stumbling block from Harlan Geldermann's proposed New Town.

The county's demurrer claims the city's complaint, which asks for declaratory relief and a writ of mandate, is "legally insufficient and unclear" as submitted. County Counsel Kelvin Booty said.

A hearing on the demurrer has been scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday, May 16, in Department One of Alameda County Superior Court.

New look at P.D.

Pleasanton's landmark City Hall cum police station has been undergoing a face lift during the past few weeks, including a remodeled reception desk, here framing part, three-month veteran of the force Lori Smith. The wood and glass paneling and re-stained wainscoting is in keeping with the trend of downtown remodeling at minimum taxpayer expense, according to police. "Painting the roses red," so to speak, department hopes to acquire an old fashioned, slatted hardwood, rolled-back park bench reminiscent of the building's early 20th-century architecture. Donations anyone?

Dublin reactions mixed to the 'one-city' concept

Tuesday's presentation of a Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) report recommending "one-city" for the western end of the valley was met by more than mixed reaction by an inter-Valley audience.

The report, released in March and presented at Tuesday's Dublin Chamber of Commerce luncheon by Executive Director Roland Mayne, advocates the creation of a sphere of influence for Pleasanton that would include the unincorporated area of Dublin, as well as the area east of Pleasanton to the Livermore sphere, south to the undeveloped, agricultural land and west along Pleasanton Ridge and Foothill Road.

Given Mayne's contention that any move by Dublin toward incorporation would "have to overcome the already stated position of the staff report" — one city for Pleasanton's sphere of influence — the chances of the City of Dublin emerging are "remote."

The enlarged Pleasanton would hold 52,000 residents, 32,000 from Pleasanton, 16,000 from Dublin, and 4,000 from the "fringe" area, and would cover 31 square miles: 12.7 of Pleasanton, four of Valley Community Services District, and 14.7 square miles from the fringe area.

Some $172.4 million in assessed property evaluations would accrue to the one-city $110. from Pleasanton, $52.4 million from VCS and nearly $10 million from the fringe area.

Additionally, the newly created area would use a projected 16.4 million gallons per day water (the "high" figure), and treat 8 mgd (projected high) of sewage.

Mayne rests his case on the contention that "(Dublin) is an urban area and should be in a city," and that one city would provide "one fire department, police department, park and recreation commission, sewer and water services, etc.," and be "more efficient."

James S. MacMillan, a seven-year Dublin resident and businessman, objected to Mayne's efficiency contention, arguing that his fire service from VCS and police response from the Santa Rita patrol of the Alameda County Sheriff's Department have been "excellent."

"What's wrong with Dublin the way it is?" he asked during the meeting.

Mayne responded by noting that planning is now in the hands of the county board of supervisors and "not local," and that there appears to be a move afoot to charge unincorporated areas for law enforcement services since it is held by some that in these areas' police services are supported by county-wide tax revenue.

The LAFCO report, however, notes "it is possible that (Dublin residents and businesses) are generating more revenues than the cost of (law enforcement) services received."

Mayne argues that a case could be made either way, and a devil's advocate could "punch holes" in either argument. He claims he himself could produce the two arguments based on different assumptions, then turn around and undermine his own argument.

VCS Director Anne Jolley quickly noted that VCS is empowered to provide police services, and that, if incorporated as an independent city, Dublin could always contract with the Sheriff's Department for law enforcement.

Furthermore, Jolley asked, doesn't LAFCO's ability to squelch a move for incorporation amount to a "threat" and "form of pressure" that's "going to continue more and more?"

"Yes," Mayne responded, "it is a threat. In my 20 years, I've not received an answer to which services are paid for by which money." There could be a report, he added, but "someone could shoot it down with a different set of figures."

Some six months ago, supervisor Fred Cooper asked that Castro Valley be charged for Sheriff's Department services, but it was denied by LAFCO as being unfair.

Apperson and antagonists due back in court again

ALAMEDA COUNTY BUREAU OAKLAND — William Apperson, Alameda County and a consortium of environmental groups will be back in court again this afternoon.

The environmental groups, including the Sierra Club, Preserve Area Ridgeland Committee (PARC) and the Regional Parks Association, are attempting to block Apperson's proposed guest ranch on Apperson Ridge.

In their suit, they are seeking to overturn the approval given by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors to the proposed Diamond A Guest Ranch, which would be located near Sunol Regional Park.

Judge Lyle Cook has held two hearings on the litigation and at the last hearing, ordered the Sierra Club attorney to produce the "entire transcript" of the county's proceedings on the Apperson matter. Today's hearing will begin at 1:45 p.m. in Department 14 of Alameda County Superior Court, which is located on the third floor of the county Administration Building.

Apperson is attempting to construct the dude ranch, which would include a health spa, youth camp, tennis center and hiking and equestrian trails, on 1,300 acres of his 2,500-acre ranch.

'Project Southwest' encourages minorities to science studies

LIVERMORE — How many minority students picture themselves as future engineers or scientists?

"Minorities are not into the sciences in a big way. If they don't get encouragement, some will start working in a filling station after high school instead of going to college where they belong."

That's the observation of one who's been there: Dr. Jose Cortez, a Lawrence Livermore Lab engineer who decided, late in his junior year in a small Texas high school, to aim high.

His decision came not a moment too soon. Three semesters of straight A's got him into college, culminating in a doctorate from one of the top engineering schools in the country at the University of Michigan.

Now, Cortez is one of a group of local scientists hoping to give Valley minority students that extra nudge they need to consider a scientific career.

"Project Southwest" is the name of the low-key but very determined group, which was started four years ago by another LLL scientist, Dr. Abe Tilles. Also heading the project are Richard Flores, Manuel Calderon, Dr. Florence

Harrison, Bill Neef and Warren Harding.

Livermore attorney Mark Eaton got the group its non-profit corporation status.

"There's a national effort to raise the number of minorities going into engineering," Cortez reports. "A federal committee is trying to get the number of minority engineers increased by ten times in the next 10 years."

"Our job is more important than ever now, because we have to supply the raw materials — the students."

Cortez hopes federal financial backing will come to Project Southwest in the form of scholarship funds, the chief tool the group has to help minorities get through college.

Students who have been helped by "Project Southwest" since its first year of operation have gone on to distinguish themselves. In June, one will be receiving a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering and one has earned a master's. Another heads Stanford's Society of Chicano Engineers and Scientists, an organization dedicated to encouraging Chicano students to consider a scientific career.

Another is chairman of the "La Raza" engineering group at the University of California, Berkeley.

"They're real sharp kids,"

Cortez says proudly of Project Southwest students. Most are getting outstanding grades in their very demanding courses.

"Typical of kids that decide they want to do something," he reflects.

The group is having a fund-raising dinner Saturday evening in St. Michael's Parish Hall, 372 Maple St. A deluxe Mexican dinner will be served from 6 to 7 p.m., highlighted by a performance by the Ballet Folklorico.

Dinner tickets are $4 for adults, $2 for children. Later in the evening there will be a dance, with tickets $3 in advance, $3.50 at the door, music by Jess Escobar.

They are hoping to raise $500 for a needy student this summer. But giving financial help is only one part of project Southwest.

Instead of restricting their impact because of lack of money, the determined organizers of the project are finding many ways to encourage minority students.

They are hoping, starting next year, to meet with students in eighth and ninth grade — before they are in the middle of high school.

They feel it's important for teen-agers to have a goal, so they will take the appropriate science and math courses and aim for good grades instead of suddenly awakening at the end of high school to the realization they want to pursue a professional career.

In California, Cortez points out wryly, it's possible to get through high school "heavy on the electives," with very little math background, unless you're college-bound.

"Project Southwest" leaders feel requiring personnel managers not to discriminate against minorities is only half the battle.

The other half is making students who may come from poor families realize that a professional career may not be beyond their reach and may have great rewards.

"Without trained minority professionals applying for jobs," Cortez points out, "all you have is a fully integrated janitorial staff!"

Lawsuit is last hope of Blackhawk's foes

By JOHN VANLANDINGHAM
Lester News Bureau

MARTINEZ — As the Blackhawk Ranch moves closer to reality, its foes are beginning to pin more of their hopes on the pending court suit.

Their last chance to force the proposed Danville development to a referendum within the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District (Central San) faded Wednesday when the county Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFAC) voted 4-1 to endorse Blackhawk's proposed reorganization.

Eight-year-old Terri Johnson of 1285 Gonzaga Court will have to endure a painful and risky series of rabies shots unless the dog that bit her is found. She was nipped about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the vicinity of DePaul and Drake Way, Livermore.

Health authorities need to observe the dog for a few days to determine whether it is rabid. It probably won't be, and Terri will be able to skip the shots, but if the animal isn't found she will have to go through with them, her doctor says.

There is no cure for rabies, a disease which attacks the central nervous system and is always fatal. The preventive series of shots may cause convulsions and rabies-like symptoms.

Since dogs have a range of five miles or more in a day, the animal that bit Terri may not be a pet of anyone in her neighborhood. The family has already conducted a house-to-house canvass of the vicinity with no success.

The family promises no complaints or lawsuits will be filed against the owner of the dog.

Anyone who knows of a dog that answers the description is urged to contact Animal Control at 443-0111, or the family at 447-4304.

Still rolling

The good times never stop rolling at Valley View School, Pleasanton. Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. the annual Spring Carnival will be held on the school grounds. Anyone wishing to donate an hour or so to work at the carnival, call Dora Spence at 846-7107. All proceeds from the project will be donated to the school for the resource center. Erin picks up a few pointers watching Judy Dick encourage Jane Weisberg to get the bean bag in the clown's mouth. Ted Hirst and Brian Laurance hold the laughing clown for the practice session. The public is invited to attend the carnival.

The proposed 4,200-unit development now goes to the Board of Supervisors where, after a mandatory hearing, it may be rejected, returned to the LAFAC, approved outright or approved subject to a referendum.

Any referendum, however, would be county-wide.

And LAFAC Chairman Al Dias, a county supervisor from San Pablo, made it known Wednesday that that's how he thought it should be.

"The mountain Mt. Diablo belongs to the entire county and that's who should vote on it," he said at the two-hour hearing's conclusion.

Opposition to Blackhawk has invoked the spectre of ecological havoc being wreaked upon Mt. Diablo by Blackhawk which is situated in the mountain's southern foothills.

But labor was lined up in support of the reorganization as one after another union official testified to the benefits of the development.

The nation's building industry is in its worst slump since World War II. One labor official invoked "starving construction members wives," as he urged support of the reorganization plan.

It was left to a labor wife to refute those benefits.

Jean Scott, who lives on Blackhawk Road directly across from the proposed first phase of Blackhawk, said it was ruining her property value.

"I want the Building Trades man to look at me. I'm a paradox, for I'm a starving construction worker's wife," she said.

Central San spokesman William Dalton joined Amigos de Diablo President Linda Moody to ask the commission

Mrs. Scott said her husband was medically retired and they needed to sell their property and move out of state, but because of the Blackhawk Ranch they couldn't. "It runs off all our clients," she complained.

Blackhawk President Robert Carrau said Mrs. Scott's plight was understandable and blamed it on the delays his project has suffered.

"If we had been at work on our project by now, her property would be worth far more and she could sell her house," he said.

Central San spokesman William Dalton joined Amigos de Diablo President Linda Moody to ask the commission to take no action regarding the Central San annexation.

Mrs. Moody said the Central San board voted 5-0, May 1 to initiate an annexation of Blackhawk, "so as to preserve the right of the people in the district to petition for a referendum."

A district referendum on annexing Blackhawk could be merged with Central San's Nov. 4 district election at an extra cost of $5000, she said.

"If the LAFAC considers this matter as a reorganization, rather than its component parts, there will be a substantial filing fee, running into several thousands of dollars, that will have to be borne by the county," Mrs. Moody continued.

"Amigos and others, including the county planning department, have consistently argued that Blackhawk is inconsistent with the County General Plan. The issue is now in court and will be heard on May 19," she continued.

"We urge you now to make a finding that no showing of general plan conformance has been made," she said.

During the period for commission comments, Lenard Grote of Pleasant Hill repeated his opposition.

He charged Blackhawk was luring development away from the developed areas to their detriment and putting pressure on rural areas to urbanize.

"The EIR clearly says that this is a bad development from the standpoint of trying to contain urban development," he said.

He vainly urged the commission to accede to Mrs. Moody's request saying it was the "best way this politically hot potato can be resolved."

Teachers set May 20 as pay talk deadline

Negotiations continue to move at a snail's pace in the Murray Elementary School District contract talks with its Certificated Employees' Council (CEC).

The CEC, which represents the teachers in the district, has set a May 20 deadline for completion of the talks. If that deadline is not met, the teachers will call a mass meeting and could vote to strike at that time.

The latest bargaining session produced little in the way of progress, as the closest thing to agreement on any of the four issues discussed came when a study committee was established on the proposed early retirement program.

However, since the district wants the program to cost nothing and the teachers would like retired instructors to receive $6,000 a year for 20 days work, quick agreement seems unlikely.

On the matter of compensation, the district is holding fast to its 3 per cent salary increase offer, while the teachers are asking for a 12.5 per cent cost of living raise.

The concept of extra duty pay — which would reimburse teachers for time spent at faculty meetings, student conferences and parent conferences — has also met with stiff opposition from the district and early settlement on that issue seems unlikely as well.

The teachers would like to see fringe benefits such as medical and dental insurance extended to retired teachers, which the district would agree to if the retirees would pay the premiums.

Premiums are also at issue in the discussions since teachers want the district to absorb the entire rise in insurance premiums for those fringe benefit programs. The district would like to see the teachers absorb the cost.

Another sticky issue is the calendar, or number of teaching and working days. The district would like the teachers to put in five work days and 177 teaching days, while the teachers would like one working day and 175 teaching days. The state minimum is 175 teaching days.

The CEC had also wanted to regularize summer school procedures, but MESD officials are claiming that summer school is not a meet and conferable item (that is, an item that the CEC and school board can talk about) since summer school teachers are not "regularly contracted people in the regular school year."

District negotiators also indicated that they will ask the board to approve the calendar in the first meeting in June regardless of whether agreement has been reached.

City blight

Trucks like these parked on Portola Avenue — as well as other rigs on E. Stanley Boulevard and Arroyo Road — soon will have notices posted on their windshields from the City of Livermore asking if the drivers would be interested in a municipal parking lot for the trucks. At any rate, both the city and Alameda County will be cracking down on the parked trucks which create a blight on the city scene.

Liberty House bungling boosters busted as deputies detect dangling sweater

DUBLIN - Sheriff's deputies knew something was amiss yesterday when Liberty House security personnel pointed out the car used by two women allegedly "boosting" clothes from the store's "most expensive racks," according to Sgt. Bill Ziegler of the Santa Rita patrol.

Not inconspicuously dangling out the trunk was a new sweater, its price tag blowing in the wind.

A few moments later, after three patrol units staked out the area, two women emerged from the store with "absolutely huge purses" reportedly filled with clothes taken on their third run from the store.

The women, Constance Donlon, 30, 1730 Skyline Blvd., and Sandra Lipsey, 27, 880 34th St., Apt. A, both Oakland, were spotted by store security personnel as they allegedly loaded the purses — which, according to deputies, contained nothing but the clothes — and made two quick trips to their car.

Donlon, deputies continued, walked straight to the car and was arrested immediately. Lipsey stepped from Liberty House some 30 seconds later, and, apparently seeing the arrest, started walking in another direction.

By prearrangement with store security personnel, she was followed by them, identified and arrested.

According to Ziegler and arresting officers Larry Rotten and Dale Benny, the women were unloading their purses into large plastic trash bags in the trunk and front seat of the car.

They had been making the trips in tandem "as fast as they could," Ziegler said, but had been spotted immediately by store personnel.

The women were booked for burglary in Santa Rita jail and held in lieu of $3,000 bail each.

Except for that tag flapping in the breeze, Ziegler termed it a "professional job."

Surgeons vote strike support

LIVERMORE - Surgeons at Valley Memorial Hospital have voted to support the continuing anesthesiologists' walkout and suspend elective surgery at the hospital.

Since May 1, anesthesiologists have refused to supply anesthesia for any but severe emergency operations and delivery of babies. They and all physicians in seven counties including Contra Costa and Alameda are protesting the quadrupling of malpractice insurance rates. Insurance for a high-risk category such as anesthesiologist now runs to some $22,000 a year.

Valley Memorial Hospital administrator Tom Andrews yesterday reported VMH will continue to function as it has been doing for the past eight days — offering emergency care and in-patient medical care (such as observation, nonsurgical treatment and tests) but not non-critical surgery.

The hospital is losing thousands of dollars a day and is operating less than half full with 48 patients recorded yesterday in the 107-bed facility.

About 85 employees are out of work (not all of them full-time), either on furlough or on vacation.

"We are assessing the situation on a day-to-day basis, since it can change at any time," Andrews said.

John Lamprey, chairman of the Veterans Hospital 50th Anniversary Poster Contest, shows off winning art to Mrs. Wanda Berryhill, who will present $225 in prizes Thursday.

Trustees to decide on campus smoking

It appears that as of today, local school boards now have the option of allowing high school students in their district to smoke in specially-designated areas on campus.

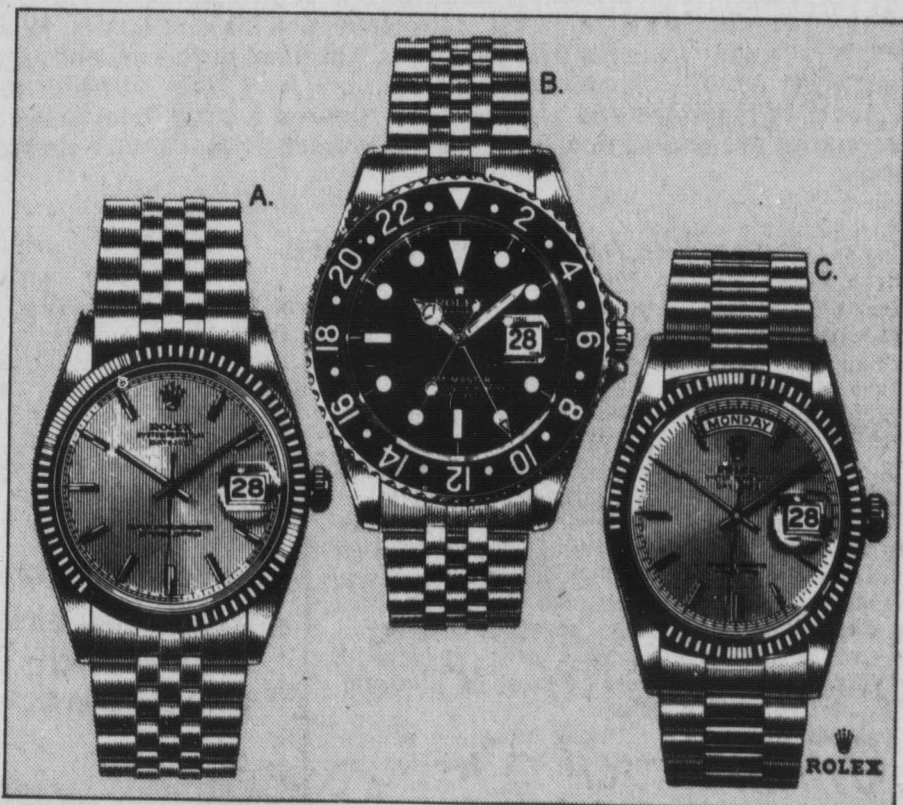

If Governor Edmund Brown Jr. didn't veto SB 171 as of midnight last night, the measure automatically becomes law whether he signs it or not.

The bill, sponsored by State Senator Arlen Gregorio, not only allows students to smoke in certain areas, but protects the rights of non-smokers who must fight their way through the smoke of school restrooms.

Summer registration forms due in Monday

PLEASANTON - Completed registration forms for students planning to attend summer school at either Pleasanton Elementary, Alisal or Harvest Park are due back at district schools by Monday.

All students who will be entering first through eighth grades next fall and live within the boundaries of the Pleasanton Elementary School District are eligible for enrollment. Graduating eighth graders may attend the Amador High School District's summer school.

Registrations received after Monday will be placed on a waiting list and will receive class assignments if room is available.

Students in grades 4-8 will attend summer school at either Pleasanton Elementary or Harvest Park, depending on where they reside. First, second and third grade classes are scheduled for Alisal School.

Summer school begins Monday, June 23 and ends on Friday, July 25. Fourth through eighth grade classes will have an 8:15 to 12:15 day while primary grades will attend from 8:45 to 12:45.

The district will offer a reading and communications institute for second and third graders, to assist children in the two basic communication areas of language and mathematics.

The classes will be limited in size and stress prevention of reading problems.

Children will be chosen from teacher-parent referrals and screened by the instructors.

A diagnostic learning center, for grades 1-8, and fourth and fifth grade classes in reading, math and writing are also set. The latter "workshops" will be structured to stress correction of reading, math and writing problems. One class in each subject area will be offered to a limited number of students. Parents of students who might gain from this program may pickup an application form at the elementary school attended by their child.

Their will be a fourth through eighth grade elective program with 30 offerings. The electives and their grade level are as follows:

A stitch in time (needlecraft), 4-8; Advanced basketball, offered at Harvest Park only; All about ghosts (read and write stories about ghosts, talk about ESP), 4-8; Aquariums and terrariums, 4-8; Cooking, 4-8; Creative woodworking, 4-8; Creative writing, 4-8; Do your art thing (powder color, tempera, water color, charcoal, collage, garbage art), 4-8; Drama, 4-8; Golf, 4-8; Mini-teacher (seventh and eighth grade students will be involved in assisting teachers in different classes); Modern dance, 4-8; Numerical magic (math activities), 6-8; Paddle tennis for boys and girls, 4-8; Play reading (for students who get wrapped up in reading plays), 7-8; Pottery, 6-8; Reading for pleasure, 4-8; Rocketry (junior astronauts will build, test and launch their own space rockets), 4-8; Shock of your life (come and learn and explore the world of electricity), 4-5; Stained glass art, 7-8; Team sports (team work will be featured, as it pertains to ALL sports), 4-8; Tumbling and gymnastics, 4-8; Typing, 4-8; Wrestling for boys, 4-8; Beginning band, at Pleasanton Elementary only, 4-8; Intermediate band, 4-8; Advanced band, 6-8; Orchestra, 4-8 (Harvest Park, only); Stage band workshop, 6-8; Guitar, 4-8.

The S/T Zaraka, bringing 170,000 barrels of oil to PG&E's Moss Landing power plant. Tankers like this, arriving from the Mediterranean, South America, and Southeast Asia, bring oil to generate electricity for homes and industry all over Northern and Central California. The high cost of foreign low-sulfur oil is one reason your electric bill is up.

The Zaraka's cargo is high-cost foreign oil needed to run our power plants.

There's cheaper oil available from U.S. sources. But because of its higher sulfur content, environmental restrictions don't permit its use. To meet your electric needs, PG&E must charter tankers to bring in this expensive low-sulfur oil from abroad.

In 1970, we needed less than one million barrels a year. Since then, the U.S. Government curtailed huge amounts of our natural gas supply by reallocation to other areas, and the Canadian Government refused to permit the export of another large amount of gas we had under contract there. To take the place of gas in our electric generating plants, our oil burn and storage requirements last year jumped to more than 15 million barrels.

During the same period, the average price of the oil we bought went up from about $2.50 a barrel to about $15 a barrel. PG&E's 1970 oil bill was less than $2 million. In 1974 it was $228 million.

Every electric rate increase granted PG&E by the California Public Utilities Commission since 1971 has been to offset higher costs of fuel oil and natural gas to generate electricity.

We don't like to ask for these rate increases. But we have no choice. Our responsibility is to keep an adequate, reliable supply of electricity flowing into homes, businesses and factories.

Meanwhile, we're doing all we can to hold down our costs and to keep your PG&E bill as low as possible. You can help lower your bill, too, by using energy wisely.

PG&E

PG&E's new booklet, "Why Gas and Electricity Are Costing You More," is available at PG&E offices.

San Ramon snares dual track crown

The ballyhooed 440 race between Matt Priewe and Rich Sessions deteriorated into an intramural romp yesterday, and for that matter so did the rest of the competition in San Ramon High's 88-49 track romp over host Livermore.

By winning, San Ramon insured its second EBAL dual meet championship in the last three seasons. The Wolves finished undefeated in five meets. Livermore tied Amador Valley and Granada for second place at 3-2.

The Cowboys nurtured upset hopes, which would have meant a title tie with the Wolves, but they were dashed by the third event, the 880. Livermore ran without its best half-miler, Mike Nagel, and could do no better than a third place. When Paul Swensen kicked home in a winning time of 2:01.1, San Ramon took a 17-8 lead and never looked back.

The remaining morsel of excitement for Livermore faithful was Sessions' long-awaited showdown with San Ramon's Priewe in the quarter-mile.

Priewe came into the race with a best of 50.5, to Sessions' 51.2.

It was never a contest. Priewe ran even with his Livermore challenger for the first 20, and pulled away to win in 50.5. The Wolves' Tim O'Donnell, who is quietly creeping up on the EBAL's top 440 men, stunned Sessions by placing second in 50.6. Rich was a dismal third at 53.1.

"I admire these guys for the efforts they put out," the magnanimous Sessions said afterwards. "There are no excuses, they were just better."

"I've watched Priewe run and taken notes on him, and he always seems to start out pretty quick. So the coaches said I should stay with him right from the start."

"But I'm used to kicking at the finish, and this time, when I tried to kick, I just stayed in the same place."

"The 440 is a weird race," puffed Priewe long after his satisfying victory. "Some days you feel good and you just stride out, and others, you're stiff. Today I felt scared," he admitted.

"Everybody was saying how fast Sessions has been running, and I knew he really wanted to beat me. But right here (Priewe pointed to a spot halfway from the finish line) I knew I had him. Then I just started coasting and I heard O'Donnell coming up. So I said 'oh-oh' and started pulling again."

"If O'Donnell learns how to come out a little stronger at the start," warned San Ramon coach Dan Stevens; "He'll give Matt trouble."

"I thought Tim could beat Sessions because he ran a 51 flat in his last meet," Priewe said. "But he's never been that close to me before."

Priewe's victory was accomplished without the aid of starting blocks, a device he eschews. Stevens will begin training his 440 men in the use of blocks immediately, however, for upcoming league and North Coast competition.

"I don't like to use them," Priewe said. "But I figure if this is my last year, I might as well go for broke."

Though San Ramon bounced Livermore handily, the Cowboys did not fall on their faces. Brett Hazen set a school record in the mile of 4:28.8, but it was good only for second place against superstar Roy Kissin. Roy won his only race of the day in a leisurely 4:26.1.

Curtis Williams ran a lifetime best in the 880, and the second best ever by a Livermore runner, 2:01.2, but could do no better than third.

The only Livermore victories came in the 330 low hurdles, a 40.4 school record by Bill Barnett, the two mile in which Boyd Tarin ran 9:44.6, Rick Ford's 12-0 in the pole vault, and a 6-0 high jump by Steve Hardiman.

Dennis Hansen won the 100 and 220 for San Ramon with times of 10.2, and 23.2. Rick Brunner swept the shot put (49-2 1/4) and the discus (139-9).

Granada tips MV thinclads

While cross-town rival San Ramon was busy capturing the EBAL dual meet title, Monte Vista had things a bit tougher; losing all three corners of its meet with Granada yesterday afternoon.

The Matadors won the varsity match-up 76-55, the girls meet, 82-15, and the frosh-soph competition by an unlikely 74 2/3-61 1/3 score.

The Mustangs won seven of the 14 varsity events (through a series of errors neither team could finish the 440 relay), but Granada's balance proved too much.

Two Mustangs came out double winners.

Sprinter Bob Gregor dashed to a 10.3 win in the 100 and took the 440 in 52.2, while Joe Tleimat won both the long and triple jumps with distances of 20-8 and 41-3 respectively.

The Mats lone double winner was distance ace Scott Kusko, who took the mile in 4:40.3 and the two mile in 10:15 flat.

Granada's Diana Stohr was clearly the star in the Mata-dorgirls route of MV as she won three individual events as well as anchoring a victorious 440 relay squad.

Stohr took the 100 (11.8), the 440 (1:01.3) and the 220 (26.5) while the relay team won in 51.3.

Cathy Honour, who also raced on the 440 team, went on to individual glory by winning the long jump with a leap of 17-7 1/2.

Picture clear for Mats, 'Pokes

North Coast Section commissioner Paul Gaddini released pairings for the first-ever NCS baseball championships this week, and thus Granada and Livermore high schools have a clearer picture of what they are playing for today.

The Matadors and Cowboys, both a game behind league leader Monte Vista in the EBAL, play crucial games this afternoon in the next to last week of the campaign.

Granada travels to Dublin to reignite a tense struggle, and Livermore is at home to face long-time rival Amador Valley. A loss by either pennant contender will probably bring down the curtain on championship hopes. Victories, on the other hand, will draw the teams to within a half-game of the idle Mustangs.

The ultimate goal for all three teams is a berth in the North Coast Section championships; to be played the last two weekends in May.

Seven NCS league champions, plus one at-large team from the section will enter. According to the schedule released this week, the EBAL champion will open the playoffs with the Foothill Athletic League titleist at St. Mary's College, Thursday, May 22, 5 p.m.

The winner of that game would play again Saturday, May 24, against either the Diablo Valley Athletic League champ, or the at-large entry.

The finals will be played May 30 and 31 at Alberts Field in San Rafael.

Monte Vista High has three games left in its quest for an EBAL and NCS crown. One of those is the conclusion of an 18-inning tie with Dublin.

Dublin coach Tom Mullican said this week he would be willing to conclude that contest as part of a double-header Tuesday, when Dublin had a regularly scheduled game at Monte Vista. The Faels will be forfeiting the home-field advantage in that case.

"It doesn't matter because we're out of any title contention now," Mullican said. "And if Monte Vista should get into the playoffs, it's going to need to rest its two pitchers. It can't be playing any extra games at the end of the season."

The Gaels can play spoilers this afternoon when they face Granada. The two teams battled for 13 innings once this season, with the Matadors winning on a dropped fly ball.

Granada will probably start junior Steve Stone on the mound today. He pitched a little more than two innings of relief Tuesday when Granada dropped a 3-1 ball game to Monte Vista.

Dublin could come right back with ace John Prieto, who was pulled out early in a Tuesday loss at Amador.

The Matadors expect to have regular left fielder Jay Strickland back in action after he missed the Monte Vista contest. He suffered finger cuts while working on an automobile.

Livermore is expected to send hard-throwing right hander Keith Richardson to the mound this afternoon against Amador. Richardson pitched a four-hitter last Friday, but lost to San Ramon, 2-1.

The Cowboys will look for renewed punch from three-four-five hitters Rich Palmer, Robin Wilkerson and Greg Edwards, to climb back into the pennant scramble.

Sorry, Pinto, Vega, Gremlin, VW, but you don't match these "standards."

And still, Toyota is the lowest sticker priced car in California.

We Toyota dealers don't stint on the standard equipment, even on the lowest priced car in our line, the Corolla 1600 2-door sedan. We figure that an economy car of the Nineteen Seventies shouldn't be as spartan as a "Flivver" of the Nineteen Twenties.

Sure, you can buy a Vega, Gremlin, Pinto or other economy cars with most of the standard features of our little Corolla. But you'll pay extra for those features. If you want the big buy in small cars, see your local Toyota Dealer, the "small car specialist."

Mustang girl netters win

Cathy Corallo won the number one singles over Liz Moulds, but the Monte Vista High girls tennis team swept all other matches to defeat Granada High 4-1 Wednesday.

Miss Corallo recorded a 7-5, 4-6 and 6-4 victory.

Padre rally falls short, 5-4

Elby's two-run sixth inning rally fell just short Wednesday night, and the Auto Supply Padres dropped a 5-4 Pleasanton National major league baseball contest to the McDonald Paint Dodgers.

Bob Jones cinched the triumph for the Dodgers with a three-run triple in the bottom of the third inning. Mike Getty doubled for McDonald's only other extra base hit.

The Padres were paced offensively by Mike Rizzo with three singles and a run-batted-in. Ed Nakagana and Jim McEntee had two hits each.

Al Wesir was the winning pitcher with relief help from Greg Moreland.

The Triple A Dodgers scored eight times in the fourth inning to bounce the Padres, 19-15. Walter Hagmaier doubled twice and singled and collected four RBI's. Dave Miller singled home two more runs, while Charles Brimage's two hits produced one run. Eric Aefed tripled for the Padres. Jeff Jantzen and Chris Curry pitched well for the Dodgers.

An eight-run fifth inning vaulted the Double A Dodgers to a 17-9 count over the Padres. Jeff Wilson was the hitting star with two doubles and a home run, and five RBI's. Tim Cosetti, Dino Inzerillo and Tony Juljat all drove in two runs for the Dodgers. The Pads' Randy Barker doubled home two runs. Teammate Paul Romero turned in an unassisted double play.

With winning pitcher Lynn Shipman striking out 10 Single A Padres, the Dodgers coasted to a 7-1 victory. Kevin Maas and Greg Johnston each drove in a pair of runs for the Dodgers.

Livermore American

Three A's pitchers combined to pitch a no-hitter in a 20-0 Livermore American senior league rout of Pizza Arcade.

Vito Ferruli, the winning pitcher, and backups Rick Finkes and Stu Lawson held the Arcade hitless for six innings.

Meanwhile Les Jacob pounded out three base hits, including a triple, to drive in four runs. Steve Kramer followed with two RBI's on three hits.

The minor league's Automobile Service team beat

Livermore Saw and Mcwer, 11-6. Carl Karfs clouted two home runs and drove in seven runs. Harold McNabb and Arthur Cox tripled. Ken Rhoads homered for the losers, and teammate Tom Bralhn knocked in three runs. Dave Macedo tripled, and Lamar Rigdon doubled. One of Karfs' homers was a grand slam.

Red Carpet smashed Dandy Dog, 11-1, behind Mike Braun's two home runs and a double. Mike Xepoleas and Brad Waddle had extra base hits for the winners. Braun was the winning pitcher as well.

Granada

A two-run rally in the bottom of the fifth inning propelled Sunset Homes to a 12-11 win over Valley Bank in Granada minor league baseball Tuesday.

Ed Singletary drove in four runs for the winners with a triple and two singles. Mark Schimmel and Cam Garcia both had three RBI's.

Jerry Joachim and Robert Godwin tripled for Valley Bank.

Alden Lane Nursery clobbered Granada Hardware, 16-3. Kevin Korouch drove in two runs for the winners. David Jurickovick had a base hit. Tim Richards and Chris Goettsche singled for the losers.

Livermore Police arrested LLLRA, 15-1. Steve Buys, Bret Chandler and Paul Fisher drove in two runs apiece. Doyle Pierce knocked in another run.

Livermore Locker closed the door on Acme Trophies, 17-6. David Slack, Mike Lynn, Sig Csicery and Brent Graham all had two hits for the winners. Acme's Randy Long drove in two runs.

Breakers will chill times

They may call it the Bay to Breakers swim by the time the North Coast Section Swimming Championships conclude at Santa Rosa High School Saturday afternoon.

The waves and whitecaps on the water will remind everyone of a day at the beach.

Top swimmers from the North Coast's more than 120 member schools will gather up North starting this afternoon for the climax to the high school season.

Only it might seem more like a warmup for a Channel crossing. Santa Rosa's pool is not the best suited for high level competition, according to Granada High School coach Gus DeGara.

His concern is justified because eight Granada swimmers, and two divers are entered in the championships.

According to DeGara, the pool is too shallow, and the design incapable of smoothing out waves in the water. So expect slower times than you might from top flight swimmers.

The facility has been such a concern that some coaches lobbied for a shift of the NCS event to Pleasant Hill's Diablo Valley College. The Santa Rosa people, clinging tightly to their option, refused to relinquish the meet, however.

The show will go on with diving this afternoon, and swimming preliminaries in the early evening. The finals will be tomorrow.

Granada, with its largest contingent ever, is geared for a top 10 finish in team standings, hopefully no worse than fifth place.

San Rafael is the likely team champion, says Granada swimmer Chris Hoenig. "They don't have a lot of depth, but they have the ability to win almost every event."

Art Morrill, a national class medley swimmer, will lead San Rafael.

Campolindo, paced by another top medley man, Peter Rocca, could also be in contention.

The 200 IM is Hoenig's top event, though he will also compete in the 500 freestyle. A victory in the 200 is highly unlikely since Morrill has posted a lifetime best of 1:53, and Hoenig has never dipped under 2:03.

Hoenig has defeated Rocca, however, in AAU competition.

Though first place is a remote possibility, Hoenig will be shooting for All-American status in the medley. Consideration time for the race is 1:59.5, well within his grasp. Automatic All-American ranking is awarded for a time of 1:56.9 or better.

Hoenig will be part of Granada's strong 400 freestyle relay team which could finish third or higher in Santa Rosa. The key man in the quartet is Ron Johansen. If he can drop his 100-yard leg time a couple of seconds, the Matadors could challenge for first place. Steve Cutting and John Rizzo are the other relay swimmers.

Granada will have Dave Eckard and Dave Johansen also competing at the varsity level in individual events.

Dave Longerbeam and Greg Heras will swim in the B division.

Two B divers will be in Santa Rosa, Jim Tonne and Wes Karch.

Amador Valley High will have Dave Potts in the varsity diving, and Jeff Gaekle swimming the 100 butterfly.

Dublin will send a strong contingent of B swimmers, Victor Hinojosa, Eric and Mark Steinhaff, and Stew Burke.

Amador B's include, Steve Pratuch, Dave Dalheim (diving) and Brian Story.

San Ramon will send Tim Horner, Paul Sucksdorf, and divers Wendy Morrison, Kim Fisher and Trish Hayes.

Livermore will send swimmer Paul Lohman.

Alameda County zoning chief wields power

Most appeals involving the county bureaucracy seem to wend their way slowly through a mass of official faces that have no real power until they reach a body that has no professional expertise on the matter at hand.

City and county planning commissions are notorious for ignoring the staff reports from their highly paid and professional advisors, as are city councils and boards of supervisors.

However, in at least one area the two sometimes warring factions — that is, professional staff and decision making body — are united. That combination is actually only a single individual, county Zoning Administrator Dick Flynn.

Flynn rules directly on variances in zoning for additions to houses, churches in residential zones, location of county dumps and houses that do not fit the exact zoning of the area they are proposed for.

Flynn hears the evidence weekly in Hayward, makes his decision, and that is pretty much that. There is a right of appeal — directly to the board of supervisors — but Flynn is batting a cool .333 (14 out of 15 rulings upheld) in the latest tabulation.

He does admit that 3 to 5 per cent of his decisions are overturned by the supervisors, but he considers that part of the job.

"That's the kind of support I have to have for this system to work," said the 41-year-old New York native. "This system hearing officer" said Flynn and added that the county has used this method since 1970. Prior to that, the planning

So Flynn has absorbed the function of determining whether something like the Apperson dude ranch falls within the bounds of agricultural zoning (he did not agree with the Pleasanton rancher) or whether a dump site is proper use of land within certain zoning.

Flynn has three basic guidelines he uses in making decisions, which are:

1. Is the use a public need?
2. Is the use not detrimental to the area?
3. Is the use in accordance with the intent of the original zoning law?

The answer has to be "yes" to all three questions for Flynn to accept a variance from the original zoning laws.

Of course, Flynn does not have to rule on each and every building permit in the unincorporated areas of the county. If a use is within the zoning ordinances, all that's needed is a building permit. However, if the use requires some slight alterations in the zoning laws, Flynn must decide.

Any kind of variance is potentially acceptable, said Flynn, so long as the principal use (i.e., homes in residential, retail business in commercial) agrees with the zoning. If a builder wants to put in a subdivision in an industrially-zoned area, he must first get the land rezoned by the planners. Then if he wants odd-shaped lots or some other variation in residential zoning, he would have to go to Flynn.

Naturally, the Zoning Administrator and the city planning staffs must be in close accord as the variances allowed just outside the city limits could radically alter the atmosphere just inside the city limits.

"There's a lot of staff liaison," said Flynn. "We have a good working relationship."

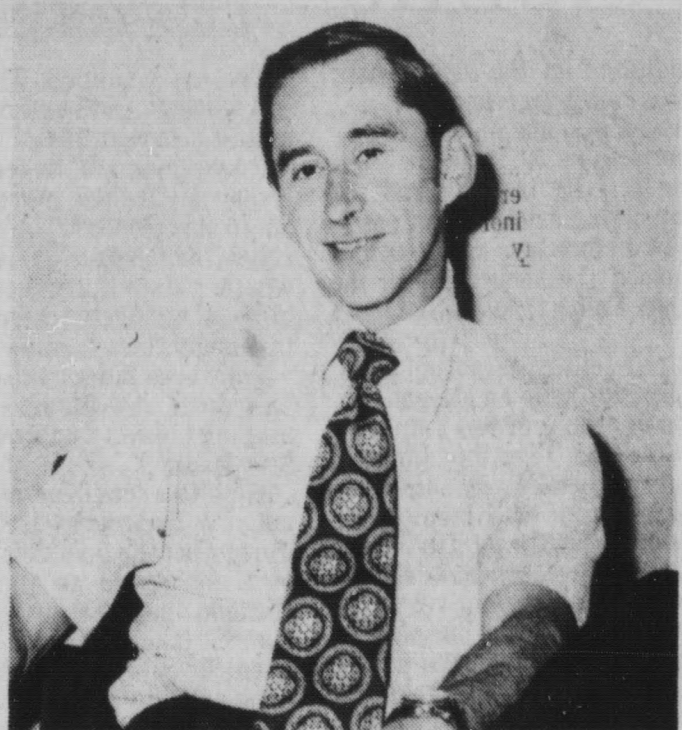

Flynn indicated there's an automatic referral of variances if the land is near city limits and normally Flynn will take into account city planning commission decisions before making his own.

Although the Zoning Administrator does have a great deal of power, if his decisions were constantly overturned by the board of supervisors, he would simply be "wasting everyone's time," in Flynn's words.

"It does work," Flynn concluded "because I do get a lot of support from the supervisors."

tem" is the concept of placing minor zoning matters in front of a single hearing officer rather than before a board or commission.

"The trend is to have the Zoning Administrator be the commission heard all requests for minor zoning variances but it simply took up too much time. The planners concentrate more on altering the zoning of an area rather than the administration of that zoning once it is set up.

Planning decision blocks Portola Ave. shopping site

LIVERMORE — The planning commission has recommended that a rezoning application by Ensign Bickford Realty Corporation be denied — thus blocking the way for a shopping center at Portola Avenue and First Street.

After two hours of hearing testimony from representatives of the realty corporation including Livermore developer Ed Hutka, and those residents who would lose to the center, commissioners voted 4-0 (Glen Dahlbacka absent) to recommend to city council that the land not be rezoned from residential use to neighborhood commercial use.

The land in question is seven acres in the triangle intersection of First Street and Portola Avenue. Council has the final authority to approve or deny the rezoning request.

Potential neighbors expressed their opposition to the rezoning which would pave the way for the shopping center.

Commissioners based their denial on a staff recommendation against the rezoning and because they felt there was not enough population in the area to support a shopping center, according to Planning Commissioner George Musso.

things happens?"
He sees he can afford one round of trumps just in case all four are going to show up in one hand. So he cashes his ace of trumps and everyone follows. Then he leads a heart. East's ace captures dummy's queen and a club comes back. South wins this and then starts a successful cross ruff. Heart to the king, ruff a heart, cash the second high club, ruff a club, ruff dummy's last heart, smile and claim since with two tricks to go he still holds the queen of trumps and a club while dummy's two cards are the king and 10 of trumps.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Almost all bridge players feel that the gods of chance take particular delight in setting traps for them. The losing player falls or even dashes into these traps; the winner finds ways to avoid them. South starts off by seeing dummy's king of diamonds clobbered by East's ace. Diamonds are continued and he ruffs the third lead. The winning player notes that the hand will be a cinch if trumps break 2-2 or the ace of hearts is held by West. Then he asks himself, "What can I do if neither of those nice

PUC delays processing pending rate hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The state Public Utilities Commission has decided to delay processing Pacific Telephone Co.'s application for a $131 million rate increase.

The commission, burdened with a backlog of 823 requests for utility rate increases, said they would not begin investigating the request until it had acted on an earlier phone company application for a boost of $97 million.

The $131 million request would have gone in effect in August and added another dollar to the average customer's monthly telephone bill of $17.25.

Arthur C. Latno Jr., a Pacific Telephone vice president, said the commission action was "beyond comprehension."

"We cannot continue for long to run the business in 1975 on income which only meets 1971 standards," he said.

Latno said the new rates are needed to offset increased labor costs stemming from a new labor contract effective last July.

It was the third time in two months that the commission has postponed processing of utility rate increases.

On March 4, the state regulatory agency told Pacific Gas & Electric Co. it could not process its latest 497 million general rate increase request because of its huge backlog.

Last week, the commission stopped indefinitely the customary requests made quarterly by utility companies to offset increased costs of oil and gasoline.

Senate Rules panel OKs housing director

By STEVE LAWRENCE
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s choice for director of housing and community development has won committee approval despite charges that the nominee once belonged to a Jewish terrorist group.

The Senate Rules Committee's 3-0 vote Wednesday sent the nomination of Arnold C. Sternberg to the Senate floor.

Sternberg's appointment drew sharp criticism from the Action Committee on American-Arab Relations and other persons who said he had served in 1948 with the Haganah, an underground Jewish military group involved in fighting between Arabs and Jews in Palestine.

Sternberg said he belonged to the Haganah but denied it was a terrorist group.

Kathleen Nimr, a spokeswoman for the American-Arab Relations committee, said the Haganah had taken part in a campaign to force Arabs out of Palestine "to make way for Jewish settlers."

"Many Americans who know intimately the activities of Haganah find it ironic that a person who participated with this group in the dehousing of people... should now be proposed to head a housing agency in our state," she told the committee.

She said the Haganah had taken part in an attack on the Arab city of Jaffa during which it "dynamited homes with their occupants inside for the purpose of terror."

"He knows that the Haganah used illegal, immoral tactics then and he knows its successor, the Israeli armed forces, use the same tactics today," she claimed.

In an interview with reporters, Sternberg denied that he had taken part in attacks on civilians while with the Haganah.

"The Haganah was never a terrorist organization," he said. "But there were indeed other Jewish organizations that engaged in terrorist activity."

Ad LIBS

By BILL HAYDEN

I made a sneaky photo trip to ABBES VW - DODGE in Livermore recently. That's the dealership way out on Portola at the 580 exit into our fair city. There was a lot of activity in sales and service, but everyone took a minute of their time to be photoed for posterity.

sible for the warranted used cars and the day to day service which is quality controlled and rated as 'above superior.'

The third foto rounds out all the staff I could find. Service Manager Ed Prost and Parts Manager Don Gouvaia. Everyone at ABBES VW - DODGE invites you in to try their sales and service.

Somebody goofed. Nobody will admit a mistake but me — and I didn't even do it. Our apologies to Connie Klugow who found her name under the wrong picture last week. The lovely lady seen receiving a trophy from Don Theile is the real Connie Klugow. She's the top sales producer for the month of March at Valley Realty's Crow Canyon Road Office. Congratulations, Connie. I've already heard this is the third consecutive time you've snagged the award.

Audi adds wagon to line

Audi dealers have added a new model to the Audi line-up for 1975, the Fox Station Wagon.

Based on the sporty Fox sedan, the wagon, according to Environmental Protection Agency tests, gets 34 miles per gallon on the highway and 24 in the city. Without sacrificing economy, the wagon provides sports-car-like handling and acceleration. With its 1600 cc fuel injected engine, the Fox Station Wagon can zip from zero to 50 miles-per-hour in just 8.5 seconds.

The wagon's roomy interior has ample seating for five adults, with its rear seat up, and 53.7 cubic feet of luggage space with the rear seat folded down. The wide window area covers 4,175 square inches, nearly as much as some mid-size wagons. The overhead cam engine, which drives the front wheels, is canted 20 degrees to provide a lower hoodline for additional visibility.

The passenger compartment is equipped with foam-filled reclining front bucket seats and full carpeting. A remote controlled side view mirror and a quartz electric clock are standard. The rear doors of the wagon are equipped with "child-proof" locks, a feature parents will appreciate. These locks can be set so the door cannot be opened from the inside, regardless of the position of the inside door lock button.

Steel belted radial tires and power front disc brakes are among the standard features. A fully automatic transmission and air conditioning can be optionally ordered.

The Fox Wagon, like the other models in the Audi line, is covered by a 12-month or 20,000 mile warranty.
